

Sinclair Broadcasting seems to be sending a clear message to the American people: we are in control now. In using the public's airways, there is an implicit contract with the populous that the public's interests will be served. This one sided, partisan attack is obviously in violation of this contract with the people. In addition, such blatant propaganda should be considered under campaign finance laws as an illegal contribution.